AVIATOR HALL ALIVE.

But Is Reported to Be Dangerously Wounded.

Paris, June 29.—Corporal James Norman Hall, American aviator and member of the Lafayette flying squadron, who has been reported killed in an encounter with German airplanes, has escaped death. Though he is badly wounded, there are hopes of his recovery.

Hall was flying over the German lines when attacked by a German biplane. After a hot encounter, seven other German machines came to the assistance of the biplane, and in this unequal fight Hall was shot through the lung. He managed, however, with great courage and coolness to bring his machine down within the French lines. He fainted just before landing, but had strength enough and presence of mind enough to cut off the gasoline and ease the landing so that the machine was not destroyed. He was picked up and taken to the Soissons hospital, where he is now under treatment. In addition to the wound in the lung, he received a bullet cut across the forehead. Hall is considered one of the most daring members of the Lafayette squadron.
